Costs Show Need For 'Broader' Base

Head of the Journalism Department, Paul V. Peterson, declared that publication facilities are more than adequate but advocated increasing the student activity fee by one dollar when he spoke before the Student Activities Committee Tuesday.

The increase, he said, would provide a "broader base" for financing yearbook publication. Present space rates for organizations and seniors are "unfortunately high."

Besides being a public relations vehicle Peterson said the Tomahawk provides a pictorial record of the personality of Omaha University.

"Tomahawks for only 85 per cent of the fall student body are ordered," he explained. "Of these some 400 are never picked up although previously paid for by the student."

Unclaimed yearbooks are sent to Omaha business firms as a public relations gesture, he said.

On the Gateway it was noted that financially the paper breaks even.

Peterson said that the purposes of the school paper are many, pointing out that it:

—Functions as a communication tool to keep the faculty and student body informed about campus activities.

—Informs the student body of faculty attitudes and vice-versa.

—Is a chronicle of OU history.

"The cost of the Student Directory was cut by six hundred dollars three years ago when the format was changed," Peterson said.

The directory is more accurate and complete than it ever was in the past, he declared.

Concluding remarks proclaimed that student publications are in "very good condition."

Sports Hearing Rescheduled

Chairman of the Athletic Subcommittee Paul C. Kennedy noted that with the recent resignations of the two basketball coaches, vacancies created will have to be filled and it would be wise if their recommendations to the administration could be made before new men are hired.

The Executive Board of the Activities Committee will meet next Tuesday in an effort to speed up the presentation of that report. Otherwise, no meetings are scheduled until April 11.

YWCA, Methodists Give Lenten Service

The Omaha University YWCA and the Young Methodist will give a Lenten Service in the Conference Center of the Gene Epley Library from 12:30-1 p. m. next Wednesday.

Full House Is Expected When Curtain Rises on 'Boy Friend'

With two performances under their belts, cast members of this year's musical, "The Boy Friend," are in top shape for expected full houses tonight and Saturday night.

Some seats are still available and may be purchased at the door.

Wednesday night the troupe spoofed the roaring twenties for Omaha's Rotary Club in a somewhat different approach for OU theater-followers.

In place of the customary seats,

Great Music Set For Easter Convo

Great classical compositions will be among the selections presented by the University Choir at the Easter Convocation March 29. The Convocation will be held in the Administration Building auditorium at 10:30 a.m.

The opening selection will be "Lord Our Master," from Bach's "St. John Passion." Other selections will be by Brahms, Mendelssohn and Mozart.

"Love Is Come Again," a traditional French Easter carol, and "Hospodi Pomilui," a hymn of the Russian Orthodox Church, will be sung, along with several American hymns.

"Rest Well," the final chorus of Bach's "St. Matthew Passion," will conclude the convocation.

Classes will be dismissed for the event which will feature the 45 voices of Omaha University's choir directed by Assistant Professor of Music Melvin Olson.

Because of the nature of the program, Mr. Olson asks that no applause be given at any time.

Seniors! Apply for Degrees by April 7

April 7 has been set as the final date for seniors to apply for degrees.

A $10 fee for the degrees should be paid to the treasurer of the senior class, Carol Robinson.

The fifty-second commencement will be on June 5. Baccalaureate services are scheduled for June 4.

Dean Donald Pflasterer said more information will be released later.

Library, Center Will Be Closed

The Student Center and the Library will be closed during the Spring Vacation next week.

Spring vacation will begin Wednesday, March 29 at 9:40 p.m. and classes will resume Tuesday, April 4, at 7:30 a.m.

Because of the full week of vacation between semester breaks, the usual week of vacation has been cut to three days.

Arts Festival Draws 700 Prep Students

Omaha University will be host to 700 high school students and teachers at the Fine Arts Festival Saturday.

Students will participate in two of these groups: theater production, modern acting techniques, TV and radio, music, art, modern dance, public speaking and debate.

She's Our Queen

Even as an infant Carol Morgan was a queen. Students at the Center Birthday Party last week voted her the most attractive baby (on the basis of old pictures, of course) and she reigned over the afternoon dance. Judging from this more recent picture, the selection proved that OU students can spot beauty at any age. For more about the Center's first anniversary, see Page 2.

Two-Day History Meet on Campus

Over 100 historians will meet on the University of Omaha campus for the fourth annual Missouri Valley Conference of Collegiate Teachers of History to be held today and Saturday.

State and local history and the Civil War will be the main themes of the conference but several presentations on European history will be included.

The Conference, a result of nearly a year's preparation, will feature an address by Philip Brooks, Director of the Harry S. Truman Library, and readings of original research papers by representatives of colleges and universities throughout a ten-state area.

The purpose of the Conference is to promote effective teaching of history at the college level. A display of texts from various publishing houses will be shown. Registration for the Conference will be held at 3 p.m. today in the Gene Epley Conference Center.

Regular fee for the Conference is $7, but a reduced rate of $3 plus meals will be offered to students and University Staff members.

Waakiya Sponsors Leadership Meet

Waakiya, senior women's honorary, will sponsor their annual Leadership Conference for Omaha University club officers April 19.

The four major officers, the social chairman, chaplain or ritual chairman and the sponsor of the organizations are invited to attend.

The pre-registration fee of $1.50, which must be paid April 13-14, will cover the cost of the officer's manual and the lunches.

Attending officers will be excused from classes for the conference.

The Waakiya Leadership Conference will be from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Library Conference Center.

Starts Drive Bowling Alley Is Closer to Reality With Plans Begun

"Bucks for bowling" became a slogan at the University of Omaha last week.

President Milo Bail coined the phrase when he handed Dean Pflasterer a dollar bill to kick-off a fund drive aimed at speeding completion of the Student Center bowling

The facilities are on their way, the president pointed out, but the arrival date hinges on the accumulation of the necessary funds.

Enter Sher Essay Contest March 29

The deadline for entering the Phillip Sher Essay Contest is March 29. All essays must be completed by April 12.

A $250 prize for the best essay on "Racial and Religious Mutual Respect" will be paid in cash. All students carrying a full 12 hour credit load with a "C" average are eligible to enter.

Students may obtain brochures outlining the conditions of the contest in the office of the Dean of Student Personnel, room 240 Administration Building.

AF Bootstrappers Get Longer Time

The Air Force has adopted a new policy concerning the time their personnel attends college.

Chief Education Officer from Offutt Air Base, Major G. E. Rickard said that "because of critical shortages in special areas such as science and engineering, the Air Force has decided to extend the temporary duty to nine months for students to get a degree in one of those subjects."

"In fact," he declared, "in very special cases a man may get as much as 12 months to get his degree."

"Men wishing to participate in the program may be cleared through the Offutt Air Force Base when there is no doubt as to whether their sought-after degree falls in the desired area," the major said. He added, however, that the clearance may have to come from the Pentagon in Washington when there is doubt.

Four States Seek Mentors from OU

School systems in California, Michigan, Ohio, and Iowa are seeking OU grads for teaching positions.

Representatives from those states have scheduled placement interviews here rather than rely on written applications.

First to visit will be officials from Los Angeles, Cal., and Marshalltown, Ia., who will meet with applicants in the Teacher Placement office, room, Adm. 213, March 10.

They will be followed by representatives from Cleveland, O., and Battle Creek, Mich. (March 20), Fullerton, Cal. (March 21), LaPuente, Cal. (April 11) and Anaheim, Cal. (April 25).

Appointments for these interviews should be made with Mrs. Yvonne Harsh in the placement office.

OU History Honorary Takes Eight Students

Eight students have been accepted by the Omicron Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary fraternity.

The students are William Calmes, Augustus Cerillo, Richard Hanson, David Hubbard, Gladys Nelson, Dennis O'Brien, William Packard and Fred Stepanek.

Twelve hours of history with a grade average of over "B" are required for applicants to the organization. Dr. Frederick Adrian is faculty sponsor.

The fund drive, a surprise to students, was the second step taken last week towards realizing the actual construction of the installation.

The Board of Regents, at their regular meeting, gave Architect John Latenser the go-ahead for specific plans and a cost estimate.

Due to the University's pay-as-you-go policy, work may not begin until the money is on hand. Some estimates have put a 100-thousand-dollar price tag on the project.

University Comptroller Harold Keefover said a lease-purchase agreement may be worked out with an equipment manufacturer thus allowing a sooner completion date.

As it stands now, the room on the first floor of the Center originally set aside for the bowling alley contains no more than four walls, a ceiling and floor.

Wiring and fixtures were left for future addition.

Once installed, the alley is expected to be a self-supporting project.

Dean Pflasterer cited a study made at every university student union featuring a bowling alley and termed them "definitely money-making propositions."

"There is no reason that OU would be an exception," he added.

Bowlers will be assessed a standard fee for use of the facility.

President Bail emphasized that student donations would go far towards making the dream a reality but did not predict a completion date.

Dean Pflasterer said it would probably be a year before the first ball is rolled.

Activities Budgets Deadline Is April 7

Deadline for student activity budget requests was set for Friday, April 7, by the Student Council at its Tuesday meeting.

Directors of the several student activities must submit their proposed budgets by then to be considered at the budget meeting, April 11-12.

"Any budget increase requests must be submitted with written reasons," said Lyle Franzen, council president.

Planning Is Begun On '61 Honors Day

Dean of the Graduate College at the University of Nebraska, Dr. John C. Weaver, will be the guest speaker at the Honor Convocation April 28.

Omaha University students who have done outstanding work the past two semesters will be honored. The convocation will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the university auditorium.

The students must have attained an average of 3.50 or higher. This coverage includes the semesters of 59-60, summer school classes and 60-61. Students in any college are eligible.

When you are uncertain as to your aptitudes, interests and abilities, consult the Testing Service. Test results indicate the vocations or professions for which you are best qualified.

Dance, Tourneys, Party Are Big Success

Omaha University freshman Carol Morgan was elected Student Center Queen last Friday during the Student Union's first birthday party.

Baby pictures were submitted by OU coeds for an all-school vote. Miss Morgan was announced as the winner at the birthday dance in the Ouampi Room.

Dedications, tournaments, cartoons and pizza also highlighted the event.

Winners of the various tournaments were Larry Swanson, pool; John Cady and William Campbell, bridge; Nick Stuecklen and Tom Doherty, chess; and Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, bulletin board.

Ex-CAE Student—

Behers Is 'at Home' at CAE

An ex-OU student who spent his college life in the college of Adult Education has now returned to that college in an administrative position.

Bernard L. Behers, Jr., the new assistant supervisor, Military Education Program, obtained his master's degree in January of this year and in February joined the CAE Department.

Behers began attending Omaha University in the summer of 1955 when he averaged nine hours a semester at nights.

During this period Behers was in the Army attached to the Headquarters XVI Army Corps in Omaha. An Army career man (he joined in February, 1941). Behers had served in the European Theater of Operations during World War II. Since that time he served two other tours in Germany.

In September, 1958, Behers began working on his masters degree, again in the CAE, carrying an average load of six hours a semester. He obtained a Master of Science in Education degree with a major and minor field in Public School Administration.

On February 28, 1961, Behers, 39, retired from the Army as a Lt. Colonel.

In his new job Behers will assist Roy W. Nolte in helping Bootstrappers plan their programs. Yet he never considered becoming a Bootstrapper to complete his program. "I planned it so that I would complete my program just before my retirement," he said.

He didn't have working at OU in mind while working on his degrees, Behers said, but began considering it after having a talk with CAE Head Dean Donald Wood last fall.

When the job was offered Behers gladly accepted. "After spending five years at OU I got to know most of the faculty members, and my wife is teaching school here so we decided to stay," he said.

Behers' wife Rita, a graduate of Whitewater State Teachers College, is an eighth grade teacher at South Lincoln School.

Bellevue Top Paper

Bellevue High School won two firsts in the High School Journalism Conference Thursday and led all other participating schools. Benson and Central came in second and third, respectively.

These results were announced by Paul V. Peterson, chairman of the journalism department.

Panel discussions were held between the students and professional journalists.

The winners were announced at an awards dinner held for the 250 students attending.

Political science concerns itself with man's efforts to govern himself and society. Learning how men have governed themselves in the past is an integral part of your liberal education.

Fire Alarm or Dismissal? Neither—Bells Mean Nothing

By Leigh Wilson

Americans have become slaves. Not to the evil government of a foreign aggressor nor to too much cholesterol in their diet, but to the common, ding-dong bell.

This includes all kinds of bells, buzzers, horns, and whistles.

Take the alarm clock for instance. This clanging device daily jolts millions of serene sleepers into grim consciousness. Or the telephone jangling in its hook rudely demanding immediate attention.

The list is long. But whatever the source and type of noise, man obeys, and all is well in the world ... until the bells go astray.

What happens when bells slip their clappers?

Man is confused. He may panic ... become frustrated ... the weak may even lose contact with reality.

This semester has had a telling effect on many OU students.

I especially remember one class I was recently in, relaxed in a chair and following the theme of the lecture when a series of three long, loud, rasping bells interrupted and startled the class.

I jumped up, looking around, noted the instructor had stopped talking and looked a little pale. "Fire!" I thought to myself, and made a break for the door. A few other class members were putting on their coats and milling around, but didn't seem too concerned about the fire.

The instructor intercepted me before I got to the door.

"The place is on fire," I gasped. He shook his head "no."

"Class is over?" I volunteered. Again "no."

"Then what are the bells for?" I asked nervously.

"Nothing," he assured me, a calm smile on his face. The bells mean nothing, absolutely nothing," he added.

He then verbally chased me back to my seat, where I settled down to worry about bells that mean nothing.

Weather Subject Of Braham's Visit

The adage, "everyone talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it," is no longer true.

Dr. Roscoe R. Braham, specialist in physical and experimental meteorology at the University of Chicago, is making a day-long visit to the University of Omaha today.

He discussed one of the things man has tried to do, about the weather—rain making—in a lecture to Professor John McMillan's physical science class.

Dr. Braham will give individual student conferences at 11:30 in Room 210AA and at 1:30 p.m. in Room 111AA for those interested in the field of meteorology. He will conduct a physics discussion at 10:30 a.m. and will speak at 3:30 p.m. to Professor John Hossack's meteorology class in Room 220AA.

Now whenever I hear bells in class, I sit restlessly and sniff for smoke, and check my watch to see if class is over. But, usually, the bells mean nothing ... that is, if there really are any bells ...

Next week: Saved from Neurosis.

In initiating our newest Journalistic venture, Sigma Phi Epsilon first congratulates the new Executive Officers of Omaha University's Greek organizations. The fine leadership selections can only result in continued successes for all groups. In keeping with this, we proudly announce our Officers for the year 1961: Pres. Kendall Brink; V. Pres. Tom O'Connor; Compt. Duane McKernan; Hist. Ed Pechar; Sec. Jerry Moore.

The Greek Week Banquet sees particular congratulations to Chi Omega for scholarship awards and Theta Chi for capturing the giant Sweepstakes trophy; also to Susie Sipherd and Dud Kersey, who were selected as Outstanding Pledges. We're sure that all Greeks join with us in commending Dr. Wardle on his enlightening speech. Sig Eps were fortunate to gather five Intramural trophies and the Scholarship trophy.

The first step in President Bail's dreams for an expanding O.U. campus saw light in the first anniversary of our Student Center. Much work by everyone, especially Deans Pflasterer and Seimers and the Student Center Program Committee brought about a successful birthday celebration. The week's activities were culminated at the dance held in the Ouampi Room. Outstanding birthday awards went to Carol Morgan, Student Center Birthday Queen, and Sig Eps for the best birthday poster—thanks to Max and Denny. The Fractures, led by Jim "Charlie Weaver" Howard made their highly successful debut.

St. Patrick's Day activities were climaxed by the annual Chi Omega Shamrock Shuffle, where the Chi O' Knights were presented—including our own "Black Knight" Ken Brink.

In closing, we would like to say that this is a column of recognition and congratulation as well as a Sig Ep newsletter. Sigma Phi Epsilon will continue to publicly recognize and congratulate significant campus events, so please bring them to our attention. Finally, we would like to remind Rod Hansen that he is now just a member in good standing, and riding elevators is no way to get up in the world Rod.

Beyond —30—

By Ken Zimmerman

There's some wonderful people on this campus.

Fortunately, they're not all hidden behind classroom walls or in closed offices.

There's people like Heddy Liefland.

She's a charwoman. She empties my wastebasket in the Gateway office.

But she is one of those very special persons who can rise above a crowd rushing between classes, bent only on the tiresome task of keeping up with the world.

She can step aside and hold her broom patiently while others run past not noticing the smile she has offered them.

A few catch her silent greeting. You can usually spot them as they slow down and appreciate the value of goodness. You can almost see the contagious warmth they picked up from the little lady in the green uniform.

That's Heddy.

She doesn't speak much English—what she does is often difficult to understand.

But she has the seldom-seen language of a smile. It says so much.

Few people not associated with the publications department realize the frustrations, the quick tempers and apparent futility experienced every Wednesday afternoon when the Gateway is being literally thrown together.

Heddy does.

Her welcome face will appear at the door. She'll look around and appraise the chaos (and perhaps cast a worried glance at the mounting pile of wastepaper that has somehow missed its target in the wastebasket), then conjure up that understanding expression of hers.

"Cheer up," she seems to say. And you can't help but do so.

I saw her once when she didn't smile.

Someone had made a joke of Khrushchev, about his dictatorship, about communism.

Heddy overheard the joke but she didn't laugh.

Her mute reaction told of many things that she came to this country to forget. Many things in which she could find no humor.

It was only seven years ago that she, her husband and daughter made their terrifying flight to freedom from the oppressiveness of a land which has forgotten how to smile.

It was not an easy trip and the searing memories can never be removed.

Heddy has tried, though.

She has learned to hold her head a little bit higher. She has learned the secret of life and is willing to share that wonderful quality which can only be happiness with everyone she meets.

Who can deny the radiance, the sincerity of her tender smile?

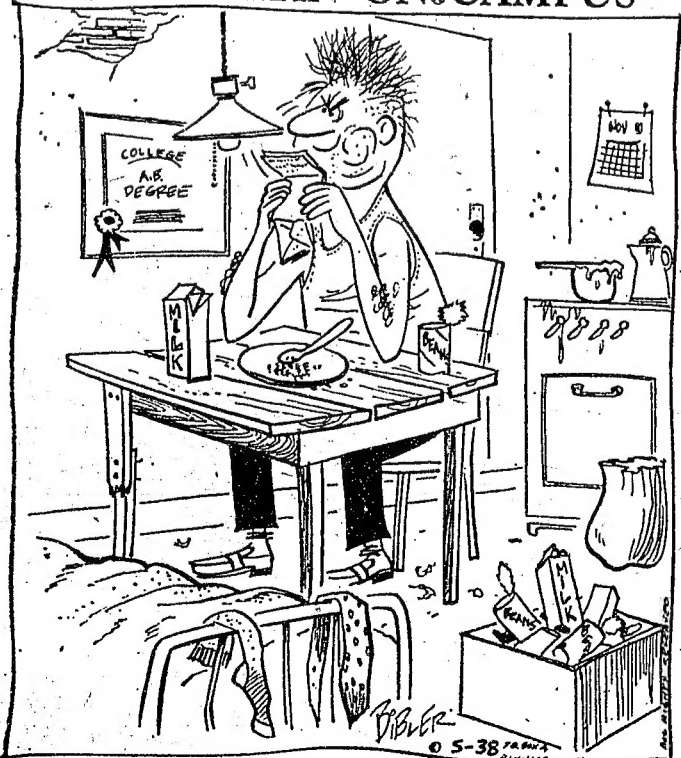

In her quiet way she spreads a glow across the entire campus. But Heddy isn't smiling today.

The tragic death of her husband, the result of injuries suffered in an accident several months ago, has once again brought a shroud of sorrow to this wonderful person.

We find it difficult to console, for words can seem so small. We can only be sad for Heddy is sad.

We can only appreciate a tearful heart and hope for understanding.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"—YES, ED, I WISH I HAD BEEN ABLE TO GET A COLLEGE EDUCATION. IT GIVES A MAN THAT CERTAIN SOMETHING THAT SETS HIM ABOVE AND APART FROM THE AVERAGE—"

Miss Swanson . . . Permanent Honor.

Honor Is 'Glowing Touch' For AF-ROTC Secretary

By Sharon Johnson

"Staffwise there are fewer people now than ever before in the AF-ROTC office," said staff secretary Eva Swanson. "The caliber of the department is not going down but the members are doubling up in their duties."

Miss Swanson has been with the department since it began 10 years ago. She was setting up facilities when the first half arrived on campus.

At the past military ball an honor was bestowed on the secretary which added "a glowing touch" to her years of service.

She was presented to the audience as the permanent honorary colonel and received a hat and cape from the Angels Flight.

Miss Swanson was the unanimous choice of the Arnold Air Society and the Angels Flight for the honor.

The presentation was "a complete surprise and a thrilling honor," she declared. At the 1956 ball she was made an honorary member of sabers and she still carries her card to prove it.

Miss Swanson's general duties include all clerical tasks for the entire detachment and secretarial for the professor of air science.

For the past two years she has served as unofficial photographer for AF-ROTC. She keeps a history of the detachment in a scrapbook filled with photos and clippings.

"The most pleasant part of my job," she said, "is meeting the people concerned with the military—the airmen, cadets, angels—all of them."

Other than her work at OU, Miss Swanson tends the gift shop at Immanuel Hospital once a month and teaches a Sunday school group of eight-year-olds at Augustana Lutheran Church. She also serves as accompanist for two of the church's choirs and sings in another.

History of Public Lands Is Lively Subject—Robbins

By Bill Vogt

A noted historian, John Fiske, once said, "the history of public lands is the driest of historical deadwood."

Dr. Roy Robbins of the University of Omaha history department disagrees. "Some of my most enjoyable moments," he said, "were spent in newspaper libraries throughout the West during 12 years of research for a history of public lands from 1776 to 1936. I found it a most interesting and lively subject."

Although primarily written as a scholarly account rather than a text, Dr. Robbins' book, "Our Landed Heritage," is used in many colleges and universities as a text in agricultural curricula as the most definitive work on public lands available.

The book, now in its third printing, has won the praise of historians Allen Nevins, Henry Commager and of Hugh Bellot, an English economist at the University of London.

The first printing of "Our Landed Heritage" appeared in 1942, published by the Princeton University Press. When the government ordered the lead press plates of the book melted down because of wartime metal shortages, it went out of print. In 1950, a second edition was published by offset lithography.

Dr. Robbins is contemplating a paperback edition, which will include material on conservation of U.E. natural resources since 1900.

Dr. Robbins has almost completed a manuscript for a second book, "The Early American West," which tells the story of the Piedmont and trans-Appalachian country during the development of the American frontier from 1750-1800.

"I am interested in what makes up this Midwestern civilization," Dr. Robbins said. "By that I mean the religion, government, education and law brought with the movement of people into the new states of the Mississippi Valley."

Not much has been done in that movement of culture from East to West, and the environmental changes that attend the Eastern culture as it moves into a Midwestern culture."

Frontier history and Civil War are Dr. Robbins' specialties. He has written many articles for professional journals and was on the editorial board of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review from 1955 to 1958.

TV Students Take Criminology Exam

The 10 members of Dr. Edmund McCurtain's televised criminology class took their final exams at the University Saturday.

Upon receiving passing grades, the students, registered last September, will receive three credits.

Dr. McCurtain's lectures were seen and heard, on KMTV each Saturday between 8:30 and 9 a.m. Every two weeks a series of questions were answered and turned in.

The only two supervised tests were the mid-term and the final.

Alum Drive Over for Year

Omaha University Alumni Fund Drive Chairmen reported $3,900 dollars collected at their preliminary report banquet March 20. Their final tally was announced at last night's banquet in the Student Center, too late for publication in the Gateway.

One-hundred-fifty workers took part in the campaign.

Alumni Secretary Betty Davis said the goal this year was $10,000, $3,000 more than the total collected last year.

Pledges may be paid until Aug. 31.

Fifty alums have been calling at night from the OU Alumni office. Thursday was the final day of that personal solicitation.

Awards were given to several graduates at the report banquet Thursday night. A weekend expense-paid vacation for two at Lake Okoboji went to the alum who collected the most contributions. Other awards were given those acquiring the most contributions and to those receiving pledges for the largest donations.

"To add enthusiasm," Mrs. Davis explained, "calls were made directly from the campus, each division taking a separate night."

Calls were made all over the nation from the chapter areas where letters had been mailed in the past.

Non-alumni donors were contacted for the first time this year.

District Debaters Gathered at OU

Omaha University hosted the District IV Debate Tournament March 20-21.

Twelve teams from a nine-state area participated in the tourney which was held in the Student Union. The six winning teams from this region will compete at the West Point, N. Y. National Tournament the latter part of April.

The winning colleges and their scores: Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia (7-1); William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo. (7-1); University of Kansas City (6-2); Kansas State College, Pittsburg (5-3); Kansas State College, Fort Hays (5-3); and Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn. (5-3).

Each team, consisting of two debaters, brought two judges. Three judges were used for each round.

Debaters and other students from O.U. served as timekeepers. Georgia Bowman was in charge of the tournament.

OU Debaters Head South

Stillwater, Okla. will be the destination of Omaha University debaters when they leave for the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament March 26 through April 2.

Rod Hansen and Max Voigt will compete for O.U. in the honorary debate fraternity meet. Alternates are John Cady, Howard Hagglund and Al Henderson.

Rumor Is False Degrees to Come

"There is absolutely no basis to that rumor," said Dr. Otto Snarr, Jr., of a story circulating that a number of bootstrappers scheduled for June graduation would not do so because they had not met degree requirements.

The assistant dean of the College of Adult Education said he didn't know where the rumor originated but he declared that "any bootstrapper with passing grades will receive his diploma."

Roy Nolte, supervisor of the military program at OU, said a number of bootstrappers called his office last week for a clarification of their records.

"Some may have misunderstood," he said.

Chi O Shuffle Honors Knights

Omaha University Greeks honored Chi Omega knights Dick Bock, Mike Landers, Kendall Brink, and Pat Shields at the Shamrock Shuffle last Friday. Larry Hill was absent when the picture was taken.

Alpha Epsilon Pi Starts OU Colony

Alpha Epsilon Pi, a primarily Jewish fraternity, has started a colony on Omaha University's campus. This chapter is Upsilon Omicron.

There are 20 men interested in the group. Dr. Charles Kepple is the faculty advisor.

In September the group initiated plans to bring Alpha Epsilon Pi on campus.

The fraternity will be a social group. Its aims will be to promote Jewish interests and to become active in community projects.

The group is allowed to send members to the Interfraternity Council who may voice their opinion. They cannot vote until they receive a national charter.

The University Placement Office assists students in finding summer jobs as well as permanent positions for those completing the two and four-year programs.

Canterbury Retreat Set for Tomorrow

Yelkin Has Trimming Task At Infield, Catcher Positions

OU baseball coach Virgil Yelkin, confronted with the task of finding the right player to do the job adequately, has an excess of material listed at infield and catcher positions and has been experimenting in the Fieldhouse sessions.

Six catchers have been toiling behind the plate in infield drills and there have been at least three infields working.

The OU coach has two returning catchers in Ray Fehrman and Larry Swanson. Due to the number of receivers, however, Fehrman has been moved to first base where he saw action last year.

Swanson will have his hands full battling Doug Cornwall, Don Gruidel and Jack Nosal for the number one position.

Freshman Rich Moriarity and veteran Tom Kutilek have also seen duty behind the plate in the drills, but both can play the infield or outfield.

A .393 hitter last season Fehrman will have competition at the first sack from freshman Kenny Allen.

Operating with the first infield have been three veterans and one rookie.

Sophomores Bill Wachtler and Joe Neuberger hold down the third and second sacks with Fehrman at first. Bruce Letner, transfer from Iowa State, who has made it possible to move the veteran Neuberger to second for the time being, is at shortstop. Neuberger played short last year.

Yelkin has Jim Hardick, Ron Ludwig, Jerry Bull, Lee Noveski, Larry Turner, Gary Rodgers, Moriarity, and Allen working with the number two and three infields.

Track Squad Keeps Tuned Up

Head track Coach Lloyd Cardwell says that the track team is working hard at "keeping tuned up." It is presently sharing the Fieldhouse with the baseball and golf teams. Trackmen are working out three days a week for the South Dakota Relays early in April.

Weightmen are still needed and Coach Cardwell says there must

Spring Grid Drills Planned

April fourth through May fourth is the period set aside for the 1961 spring football practices.

During this 30-day period 20 practice sessions will be held. All will begin at 3:30 p.m. and run until five.

The coaching staff of head coach Al Caniglia and back coach Ken Fischer will direct the backfield candidates while Don Watchorn and Don Benning will assist the linemen.

Caniglia stated that "spring practice is for the teaching and learning of fundamental skills and for the opportunity of any student to investigate his desire to compete in intercollegiate football."

Returning from last fall's squad that compiled a 1-7-1 record are these members of the offensive unit: Paul Blazeovich and Jim Kettle, ends; Gary Baughman, tackle; Mel Masek and Duane Salak, guards; Dave Gibson and Gary Sindelar, quarterbacks; George Payne and Louie Miloni, halfbacks; and Wayne Backus and Barry Miller, fullbacks.

Miller and Backus will be excused from the spring drills while they are participating with the baseball squad.

Defensive players include Blazeovich and Kettle, ends; Art Ferguson, Salak, Miller and Backus, linebackers; and Payne and Dean Taylor halfbacks.

Several new players will bolster the squad this spring.

be some hefty men on campus who are eligible. The other weak point of the indoor team, the distance events are shaping up better for the outdoor season.

Captain Dennis Dunning is expected to run in the half-mile and mile as is transferee Bill Marshall. Cardwell says that Marshall is coming along real well in both events.

James Kettle will report as soon as he is cleared by his doctor. He received an injury during Christmas vacation and is ready to go now. Kettle will throw the javelin with letterman Dave Jauron.

Tennis Squad Not Working

Tennis Coach Sonny Means said that the inclement weather has prevented the squad from doing any practicing.

Pucksters In 5-4 Thriller

Omaha University's hockey players had to go "all out" to defeat a stubborn revamped Offutt Air Base squad. The Flyers played the game with the help of Omaha Rangers Mike Cochran and Jim Morton who filled in for two missing Offutt men.

The OU squad began quickly as "Tiger" Tom Lynch, playing with a broken finger, slapped the puck by the Offutt goalie in the first twenty seconds of the opening period.

Two minutes later Mike Cochran brought the Offutt fans to their feet as he sent a forty foot slap shot off the pads of OU net minder Joe Sullivan and into the net tying the score at 1-1.

Quick tallies by OU's Bill Winchester and Steve Dwyer gave evidence that the Indians would chalk up another easy victory as they had in their two previous meetings with the Flyers, 8-1 and 9-4.

Offutt Comes Back

However, Offutt was not to be denied. Led by Cochran, Morton and Sgt. Michaud, the Flyers time and again used deft passes and fine screens to get within shooting range. Constant pressure was kept on the Indian defensemen as Michaud tallied for the Airmen.

OU met the challenge and Bob O'Toole rocketed a shot by the Flyer goalie to give them a little breathing room, 4-2. Offutt lost little time in retaliating as Morton turned on the light twice in quick succession and the second period ended in a 4-4 deadlock.

The game's only penalty came with 12:45 remaining in the final period when OU captain Gary Sindelar was assessed two minutes for slashing as he attempted to stop an Offutt wing who had broken away and was bearing down on the Indian goalie.

Pace Tells

The pace was beginning to tell on the Flyers as the well-conditioned OU corps kept punching away at the Offutt goalie.

Late in the third period Sindelar slapped a rebound around the net to Lee Noveski who promptly fired the puck into the lower corner of the net as the Offutt goalie frantically tried to block the shot. With 3:31 remaining and leading 5-4, the Omahans were content to play good defensive hockey and turn away last minute Offutt threats.

The OU squad is scheduled to play Gratton Warehouse tonight at 10:15 p.m. OU plays on Monday, March 27, at 10:15 p.m., against a team to be announced later. The Indians come back on the 28th to face Omaha's top amateur hockey team, the Omaha Red Wings, at 8 p.m. OU is scheduled to close the season Friday, the 31st, against Offutt at 10:15 p.m.

Former OU Athlete Now Budget Minded

"A finger in every pie" most clearly characterizes the versatile Business Manager of Student Activities, Bob Barnes.

Some of his duties include budget control and assisting in the planning of all student activities. He also contracts advertising for the Gateway and the Tomahawk. He is in charge of the distribution of tickets and the promotion of University Theater productions. He is a member of the Student Union Activities Committee and helps plan the activities of the Center. During the summer he audits the books of all student organizations.

The 27-year-old Albion, Nebr. native moved to Omaha when he was three years old. He attended Rose Hill Grade School and Benson High School.

He graduated from OU in 1956 where he was a 4-year letterman in track. He still holds the indoor 440-yard dash record - 51.2 seconds and the outdoor 440-yard dash record of 49.2 seconds. Bob said that "Roger Sayers may beat both of them."

He was also a member of the mile relay team which holds the school record.

His identical twin brother, Bill, attends night classes at OU and plans to start graduate work in hospital administration next fall. He holds the high hurdles record at OU and had held the low hurdle record before Sayers broke it this year.

"We look so much alike that people often accuse 'ME' of being snobbish when he doesn't return their greeting," Bob said.

After his graduation from OU Bob entered the Air Force and served three years. He attended flight schools in Lubbock, Tex., and Bartow, Fla. He accumulated 500 hours of flying time including 25 hours in jets.

Bob was a member of the Air Defense Command Track Team and he won the World-Wide Air Force championship in the 400 meter hurdles with a time of 54 seconds. He was also a member of the team which set an Air Force world's record in the mile relay with a time of 3:14. Both records were set in 1959.

Bob returned to join the OU staff in July of last year.

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer, Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
